Richard W. Thompson.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: The death of Col. R. W. Thompson renoves from the activities of life not merely our oldest statesman, but our most distinguished citizen as well. I have been reading about him, hearing him talk to the public and conversing with him myself from my boyhood, and I know many others, as well as myself, feel that a great light has been extinguished. Sixty-five years ago he was a member of the Indiana Senate from the county of Lawrence, and sixty years ago he was a member of Congress, serving with John Quincy Adams and the other distinguished men of that day. When Henry Clay came to Indiana, in October, 1842, and was received at Indianapolis by a vast multitude and a weling address by Governor Noble, preparatory to the great speech he was expected to deliver on national affairs. I was present to listen to it. At night, to a great crowd on Washington street, Thompson with great power. In the audience ing in the street was an enthusiastic admirer, who every few minutes would

"Hurrah, my little Dick." The sound of that voice has rung in my ears for fifty-eight years. There have been public men in the State who for a time overshadowed Thompson, such as Morton, Hendricks and Voorhees, but the people always had an admiration or "the old man eloquent." His length of years was phenomenal. He was fifteen years of age when Morton was born, and yet survived him twenty-four years, most of the time living an active life. That he was one of Morton's most trusted advisers luring the civil war I personally know. There were a few men residing in different parts of the State who shared Morton's onfidence and were called in counsel, but his chief reliance was on Thompson. declining years it can be truthfully should always attend old age: "Love, hon-

& O. PENSIONERS

BENEFICENT WORK OF A FUND ES-TABLISHED BY ROBERT GARRETT.

Sudden Advance in Ocean Freight Rates-Miscellaneous and Personal Railway News and Notes.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company has hundreds of pensioners, a fact not generally known by railroaders, payment to vided for in connection with the establishment of a relief department of the road in the days of President Robert Garrett. The pension department was created in March, 1889, and in the succeeding years the railroad company contributed to the pensions alone from its own earnings upwards of | cently paid the money to the mother. $310,000. The pension is to provide means of support during life for members of the relief department of four years' standing. who have been employed by the company ten years or more, and, having reached the age of sixty-five years, are honorably relieved from duty. The fund provides in the same manner for those who elect to retire from the service. The pensions are paid monthly, each pensioner receiving a daily allowance, excluding Sundays, equal to half the benefits provided for sickness. In the case of pensioners who have been members of the relief association for fifteen years the allowance is increased by an additional 5 per cent., and a like addition is made for each additional five consecutive years of such membership. Funds for the payment of the pensions are derived wholly from contributions of the company, varying according to requirements. Upon the death of a pensioner the accrued pension to the date of his death is not considered a part of his estate, but inures to the exclusive benefit of his widow or children. One of the most interesting and liberal features of the Baltimore & Ohio relief department, not generally known outside of Baltimore & Ohio men, is the savings feature. Any employe of the company, his wife, child, father or mother, or the beneficiary of any deceased member of the reief association, may deposit any sum from It to $100 a day. On all sums of $5 and upwards that have been on deposit not less than three months interest is paid at the

An exchange says there is a tempest in a eapot brewing; that the Western railroads are to be investigated for cutting grain rates by the Interstate-commerce Commission; but it predicts that the big firms with large bank accounts will continue to do the grain business as heretofore.

The Central Freight Association will meet at Chicago to-day. Colonel Gray, of the Panhandle: Samuel B. Sweet, of the Lake Erie & Western; John S. Lazarus, of the Indiana, Decatur & Western, and Ford Wood, of the Peoria & Eastern, left last night to attend the meeting.

The official summary of the Railroad Gazette shows that there were built in the United States in 1899 4,569 miles of new railroad, 656 in Canada and 267 in Mexico. In this country Iowa leads with 563 miles, Minnesota coming next with 374 miles and Arkansas third with 281 miles.

The fast freight train put on two years ago over the Bee-line and St. Louis divsions of the Big Four between Cleveland and St. Louis is the fastest scheduled St. Louis behind its scheduled time.

It is stated that with the retirement of John Bean, master mechanic of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, the position will be abolished and the supervision of the master mechanic of the Toledo division will be extended over the Cleveland division, having but one onicer for the entire road. SUIT TO TEST COMMISSIONERS' RIGHT TO ALLOW CLAIM.

on His Side-Cases of Interest in the Courts.

A test suit was brought in the Superior Court, yesterday, against County Auditor Smith, to ascertain the position of the auditor and County Commissioners in allowtwenty years, and during the entire time ing sums of money for the care of the poor. The state, on relation of the County Commissioners, appears as plaintiff. There has been some question as to the right of the commissioners to allow certain claims and in order to settle the matter in the court, it was arranged that the commissioners should allow a particular class of claims and the county auditor should refuse to issue orders on the treasury for these amounts. The question involves the construction of the new county and township reform law. County Attorney Brown prepared the complaint and filed it in Room 3.

> One of the claims involved was that of Arthur Seward, employed by the trustee of Center township to investigate the condition of that class of poor not confined in any institution. Seward's claim amounts to 365. Another claim is that of J. A. Robinson, who presented a bill for $8 for furnishing groceries at the request of the trustee of Center township. A third claim was presented by M. Smith for taking a feeble-minded coild from this county to the School for Feeble-minded Youth at Fort Wayne. His expenses were $5. Other claims involved in the suit are the following: Allowance to Home for Friendless Women, $100; Indianapolis Free Kindergarten, $500; Alpha Home, $25; House of Good Shepherd, $25; Little Sisters of the Poor, $25; Sisters of Charity, $25. The complaint filed by the county attorney is in nine paragraphs. Shortly after it was filed, Judge Carter, of the Superior Court, issued an alternative writ of mandate, requiring the county auditor to either issue warrants for these amounts, or appear on Feb. 14 and show cause why he should not do so. County Auditor. Smith remarked, last night, that he would be willing to issue warrants on the treasury for every dollar ordered paid by the commissioners, if the Superior Court will give a decision authorizing him to do so. He says there will be no appeal to the Supreme Court. All that he asks, he says, is the authority of the lower court to do what

DIVORCE COMPLAINTS.

Allegations of All Kinds Are Made by the Plaintiffs.

Rosanna Allen yesterday began an action for divorce from Frank E. Allen, who, she says, has defaced and otherwise damaged their property while intexicated. She also charges that Allen neglects his business and wastes his money in dissipation. The plaintiff says she has been engaged in the dental business with her husband. She de mands alimony in the sum of $1,000. Robert Huddleston demands a divorce from Ida Huddleston, to whom he was married in 1892. He charges that his wife is cold and indifferent to him. He says she Julius Clifton Miller brings an action for divorce from Metta E. Miller, to whom he was married in 1898. He avers that his John J. Rochford, J. W. from Johnson County. The transcript of a suit brought in Johnson county for the removal of John T. Paskins, trustee of Hensley township, has arrived here, the case having been venued to this county. Some serious charges are injured. made against Paskins. It is claimed he failed to keep a record of warrants issued. and failed to put in its proper place schedule of all outstanding orders and accounts. It is averred that on Aug. 3, 1896, Paskins retained $128.75 of the township's money and has continued to keep it. Another charge is that at one time he repre-Dowling, Wm. Curry, Thomas Markey, sented the indebtedness of the township to freight train in the country. Only seven times during that period has it arrived at Victor, Ernest Knodel, James Deery, John $8,000. Other charges of irregularities are made, among which is the claim that Paskins received a "present" of $30 from William A. Pitcher for appointing Pitcher to teach in the township schools.

German Opera Singer's Plight.

Miss Anna Sondermann, a German opera singer who desires to return to Germany as an American citizen, was in Room Superior Court, yesterday, requesting that Judge McMaster give her naturalization papers. She was accompanied by Peter flester, and the latter, with Paul Teichert, acted as interpreters. When it was found that Mr. Pfiester had only known the young woman about a year Judge McMaster hesitated about granting the woman's request. It was finally discovered that Miss Sondermann's father has taken out his first naturalization papers and Judge McMaster said he would give him his second papers if he would come in. This will naturalize the daughter. Judge Allen, a few weeks ago, naturalized a woman. He said yesterday that he did not know at the time that it was a woman who was receiving the papers.

Injured in a Peculiar Way. Roy Burris, by his next friend, William M. Burris, began an action yesterday against the Indianapolis Street-railway Company on account of personal injuries. The boy was injured in rather an unusual way. It is claimed the street-car company allowed a pole to lie near the sidewalk in front of a church where the plaintiff attended Sunday school. On the day of the | and costs paid. accident the boy was about the church, and with other children was attracted by a funeral procession that was passing. The children ran out to the sidewalk and against the pole complained of. While the children were out there the pole turned in such a way as to strike the Burris boy on the leg and break it.

Judge Favors Child Actress. Judge Alford, of the Criminal Court, yesterday sustained the motion to quash the affidavit against Mrs. Rose Moehrman, who was charged with failing to keep her little daughter Ruby in school. The child, in question, has been taking part in some of the plays presented by the Grand Stock Company. Mrs. Moehrman was fined by Justice of the Peace Hay. The motion to quash was filed on the ground that the charges against the woman were not sufficiently specific and did not allege that the child was habitually absent from scho Mrs. Moehrman has another child twelve years old, who is playing with "The Sporting Duchess" in California.

What Judge Alford Says. It was stated yesterday that Prosecuting Attorney Pugh expects to have the grand jury take up the street-railway investigation again. The investigation was begun last December. Judge Alford says that unless the State has some witnesses that actually "know something" the grand jury cannot hold an extra session on account of this investigation. He says he has no objection to the jury examining street-rail-way witnesses while waiting for witnesses in other cases.
